Holiday Mail Swamps Post Office

Deliveries On Schedule Here

Late Mailers Warned To Get Busy

The Salem Post Office dug out from an avalanche of Christmas cards and gift parcels over the weekend but many more are expected.

Superintendent of Mails Ray Reasbeck said postal crews are working around the clock to keep the holiday mail from piling up. "This week will be a busy one for us," he commented, urging people to mail their Christmas cards early.

An expected peak of holiday letter mail Sunday did not develop. Only 40,000 letter cancellations were made, a drop from 64,000 of Saturday. Mr. Reasbeck urged patrons not to delay mailing their cards so that there is sufficient time to insure delivery. "The same applies to packages," he said.

Mail deliveries are on a two-day basis and will continue on that schedule right up to Dec. 24. Parcel post deliveries are being completed once a day, covering the entire city.

Extra clerks are on duty at the postoffice and substitutions are helping the carriers. Rural carriers prepared their routes at the office, their substitutes making the actual deliveries.

Deliveries will be made both city and rural every day, including Sunday, until Christmas, Mr. Reasbeck said.

Acting Postmaster Ray Reich asked that people do not call the Post Office about packages. "These are being delivered daily from our temporary annex a block away and it would be impossible to search for parcels. All packages will be delivered, even if it's Christmas day."

Search for Wellsville Bandits Continues

Area law enforcement agencies today continued the search for two well-dressed bandits who escaped with $1,855 in the daring daylight robbery of the Wellsville City Loan Co. about noon Saturday.

The two, described as heavy-set and dark-complexioned, are believed to have escaped in a car after binding five clerks and a customer at the office.

The Wintersville and Lisbon state highway patrol barracks, along with the Columbiana County sheriff's office, dispatched several cruisers to the district shortly following the armed robbery and roadblocks were set up. A criss-cross pattern check was made of country roads in an effort to apprehend the two.

One was described as wearing a gray coat and the other, a tweed coat. Both wore black trousers and shoes.

The men fled the office on foot after binding the six with adhesive tape and strips of cloth from petticoats ripped from the women clerks.

Is America's Mightiest Missile

U.S. Appears Ready For Firing of Atlas

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The countdown that precedes a missile launching reportedly was under way today, preparatory to the test firing of America's mighty Atlas intercontinental ballistic weapon.

There was no official word that the third attempt to launch an Atlas might be in progress.

But among men, women and children gathering on the beaches to watch for a firing, the report spread that a countdown—a final hour-by-hour checklist—started early today. The exact hour was not known.

The Atlas normally requires a countdown of about 10 hours. However, there is no strict timetable and it is not unusual for "holds"—delays called for the elimination of last-minute problems—to add a number of hours to the total.

Watchers from beaches four to five miles away from the heavily guarded launching area noted great activity around the Atlas stands, where men worked under floodlights through the night.

Two of the giant missiles were visible in their stands. These may be the ones which were given static tests last week.

In addition to the firing expected today, another Atlas launching is believed likely toward the end of the week.

Two previous test launchings of the Atlas were held last summer and last fall.

Missile Got Into Air

In both instances the missile got into the air. Before it could get fully under way, however, it started to wobble and change course and had to be blown apart.

The Atlas is designed to deliver a hydrogen warhead over an area reaching as high as 600 miles above the earth to a target 5,000 miles or more from its launching point. Its average speed is 10,000 miles an hour.

In a test launching, however, the main purpose is to check the functioning of the various parts. The missile may be pre-set for a lesser altitude and a shorter range for better observation of its flight.

Although construction details are secret, the Atlas is believed to be about 70 feet long and 8 feet in diameter and to weigh some 100 tons at take off.

It consists of three stages and is powered by three rocket engines.

The main Atlas engine is be-

NATO Chiefs Open Crucial Talks In Paris

Says U. S. Must Push Missile Plans

'Beat Reds to Moon,' Urges Sen. Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today the United States should push plans to beat Soviet Russia to the moon.

We are a few steps behind in the race already and someone is going to have to take over direction so we can skip a few steps and overtake our competitor," he said.

Johnson spoke in an interview as his Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigating the U.S. missiles and satellite programs summoned top Navy research specialists for questioning.

Listed to testify for the Navy were Adm. W. F. Raborn Jr., in charge of the Navy program to perfect "Polaris," a 500-mile range ballistic missile; Adm. J. E. Clark, director of Navy research and development; and Asst. Secretary Garrison Norton, in charge of Naval air and research programs.

Seeking Control of Space

Testimony that Russia is aiming at control of space has come from Dr. Edward Teller, University of California nuclear physicist, and from Dr. Werner von Braun, a top Army missiles expert.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), another member of the Preparedness subcommittee, said yesterday it is as necessary for the United States to "occupy space and rule space as it was for England to rule the sea in her conflict with Spain" centuries ago.

Appearing on a television interview, Flanders said occupation of space would provide constant surveillance of the world beneath.

In New York, Republic Aviation Corp. announced Sunday it will produce for the Army Signal Corps a number of surveillance drones—unmanned airborne devices.

Has 3 Nose Units

As described by the company, the drone has three different, interchangeable nose units for use on photographic, radar and infrared detection missions. Most other details of the project were kept secret.

During Saturday's hearing, Von Braun said there is no doubt the Russians have developed an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of delivering atomic or hydrogen warheads anywhere on earth. "This is not a question of argument but of figuring it out with a slide rule," he said.

Von Braun also said the Russians have rocket and missile engines many times more powerful than those of the United States and that the Soviets are working on even more advanced designs.

800 at High School Vesper Program

A crowd of over 800 persons attended the 12th annual Christmas vesper program of Salem High School chorals Sunday afternoon at the school.

The Robed Choir, Girls Glee Club and the Beginning Chorus presented a program of Christmas and seasonal music under the direction of F. Edwin Miller, music supervisor of Salem High School chorals.

A carol sing with the audience participating, was a highlight of the program which featured soloists Culley Livingston, Patricia Wyckoff, Pinckney Hall, Elizabeth Works and Dave Spier.

Accompanists were Karen Greenisen, Karen Trombitas, Louise Oswald, Dixie Wilde and Judy Miller.

Actually there are signs remaining of his illness, notably a slight speech impairment, and he still is under close watch of the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, who is here with him.

IKE RESPONDS TO SUNDAY GREETINGS. — President Eisenhower, closely watched by uniformed gendarmes, salutes crowds outside Paris' American Cathedral after attending Sunday services to start off his second day in the French capital. The President then plunged into meetings with other Allied leaders on the eve of the important NATO summit conferences.

5 Motorists Cited By Patrol

Four Persons Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

Four persons were injured and five motorists were cited in six traffic accidents on area highways over the weekend.

A car driven by John Cochran 49, of Alliance went out of control and overturned in a ditch on Rt. 14, two miles east of Salem, at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

Cochrane received severe head lacerations and was brought to City Hospital where his condition is reported as good today. His car was demolished.

Cochrane will be cited for reckless operation, state highway patrolmen said.

Ike Snaps Back In NATO Role

Little Sign of Recent Illness Is Apparent

PARIS (AP)—For President Eisenhower, still convalescing from his mild stroke, the stakes are high at the NATO summit conference.

Just three weeks ago today he was stricken in Washington with a brain artery blockage. Now, after bouncing back with surprising speed, he is leading a drive to revitalize the anti-Communist North Atlantic Alliance, which he helped forge in 1951-52.

His prestige as America's president and as NATO's first supreme commander in Europe—a post he gave up 5½ years ago—is on the line as he seeks to bolster free world defenses in the face of the Russian space-era challenge.

Amazed at Rapid Recovery

Parisians, getting their first look at Eisenhower since he was NATO commander here, are amazed that he has traveled toward recovery so swiftly. People in the streets and French and other Allied officials frequently remark: "You never would know he has been ill."

Actually there are signs remaining of his illness, notably a slight speech impairment, and he still is under close watch of the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, who is here with him.

On Saturday, when he stepped from his plane after a 16-hour transatlantic flight, he appeared

Suffers Broken Leg

Mrs. Esther Zimmerman, 30, of RD 4, Salem, received a fracture and contusions of the right leg when her car went out of control and overturned on Rt. 62, one mile north of Salem, at 2:05 a.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Zimmerman was attempting to pass another car when the mishap occurred, patrolmen said. She was brought to the Central Clinic where her condition is reported good. The car was demolished.

State police said she will be cited for reckless operation.

Car Upsets, Burns

A car driven by David Jones, 16, of New Waterford went out of control while attempting to pass another car, overturned and caught fire on Rt. 7, four miles southeast of Columbiana, at 2:10 a.m. Sunday.

Dolores Baker, 14, of Leetonia, a passenger, received back injuries and was treated by her family physician. The car was a total loss the state patrol said.

Cited After Collision

Another mishap occurred when a car operated by John Gose, 27, of Alliance, pulled from a side road into the path of an auto driven by Richard Stuffer, 31, of Wilson's Trailer Court on the Damascus Road.

The accident happened on Rt. 62, one mile west of Salem, at 6:10 p.m. Sunday. Extensive damages were caused to both cars. Gose was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

William Potts, 21, of 155 S. Union Ave. was cited for reckless operation after his car struck a

Ike Calls For Action to Meet Soviet Threat

Tells Western World Menace Is 'Formidable But Not Irresistible'

PARIS (AP)—In a bid to reassert strong American leadership, President Eisenhower told the Atlantic Alliance today mighty new forces are beginning to "cast a pall over our world."

He called for heroic efforts to match Russia's space-age military challenge "while the margin of power is still ours."

Eisenhower coupled his grim but apparently confident demand for action with a declaration that the United States and its allies stand ready to join Russia in an effort to bring the forces threatening the world "under rational control." But until that can be done, the Allies must employ their strength "to sustain peace and freedom."

Says 'Forces Not Irresistible'

"The forces arrayed against us are formidable but not irresistible," Eisenhower declared to the first heads-of-government session to be held by the eight-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization of 15 nations.

For the public opening session of the conference, Eisenhower and the other government chiefs sat at a circular table in the conference room of the Palais de Chaillot, which is NATO headquarters in Paris.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain was placed to the president's right and secretary general Paul-Henri Spaak to his left.

Eisenhower addressed his remarks to the council but they were directed toward a worldwide audience, including Russia. He said at one point the free world is willing to join Russia in bringing the new weapons of mass destruction under control.

But to the United States and its allies he declared "false" thoughts of which we have all been more or less guilty "must be abandoned. Among these he included the belief that freedom was inherently more productive than Communism and the assumption that "the triumph of freedom over despotism is inevitable."

"We are in a fast-running current of the great stream of history," the President said.

"Heroic efforts will long be needed to steer the world toward true peace."

"This is a high endeavor. But it is one which the free nations of the world can accomplish."

Speech Is Inspirational

This first major policy speech by the recently ailing Eisenhower, who has impressed Paris with his vigor and determination after his recent mild stroke, was almost entirely inspirational.

It was to be followed later in the day by another statement offering U.S. intermediate range missiles to the European allies along with stockpiles of American-controlled nuclear warheads.

The NATO opening took place in a better political atmosphere than had existed here at the end of last week. Eisenhower had soothed French fears about U.S. policy in North Africa, West Germany despite objections was expected to go along with a start on the missile rearmament of NATO. It seemed likely the summit meeting by Wednesday would produce some accomplishments.

Eisenhower said the meeting "is unique in history" and went on: "We are here to rededicate ourselves to the task of dispelling the shadows that are being cast

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ATLANTIC CITY
The dark clouds which hovered over this city were quiet back drops and matched the mood of powerful men of labor who were waiting only to get home and declare war on Walter Reuther.

The elders of the old AFL hate him. They want to tear his union apart. They plan to raid his industrial bailiwicks. They will boycott him. They will refuse to work on material made by his followers. There will be a costly war running into the hundreds of millions of dollars, as the forces of the Carpenters, Sheet Metal Workers, Operating Engineers, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers, and the other old craftsmen of skilled trades pincer Reuther and his Auto Union from all directions.

This feud has little to do with the Teamsters' ouster. It's a fight for jobs as unemployment gushes across the land. AFL-CIO researchers have said that almost two million more will be jobless by the end of January. Many of these will be Reuther's followers. Many will be laid off in the construction trades. In all, there will be five million jobless.

A RESOLUTION on the national economy reported to the second merged AFL-CIO convention that, "In most industries 15 per cent to 25 per cent of productive capacity is idle."

The old AFL unions have said all over the lobbies and convention hall that, as unemployment hits Reuther's men, he will try to move in on construction work and cut out the old-timers' unions.

The old gladiators couldn't make an arena out of the convention hall. Walter Reuther wouldn't throw himself to the lions. The red-head stayed out of their way. He decided early in the convention to make but one speech. He was silent for more than a week and a half.

The Auto Union chief had a set of neat notes ready for the debate on the ouster of the Teamsters. Now they're for the archives. Although Reuther did tell this reporter that he was ready to take the floor and urge that "we take a stiff brush, strong soap and a detergent and clean house."

Later the word was that he would speak on military preparedness.

He avoided the crowd again. He didn't speak. He held conference after conference with AFL-CIO leaders George Meany, Dave Dubinsky and others.

THE STRATEGY was for Reuther to keep away from the podium to avoid giving the old-line union leaders a chance to open up on him right on the convention floor. Reuther, for the first time in 20 years of conventions, deliberately attempted to avoid making news. He called no press conferences.

Even with Reuther sitting quietly in the background, some of the powerful construction union chiefs would have blasted him. But they couldn't get past the broad shoulders of President George Meany, whose prestige and stature makes him the free world's most influential labor leader.

With trip hammer speeches Meany kept peace on the convention floor. But now that the boys are back home, the war on Reuther's forces will take many shapes.

There is, for example, a small

Sheet Metal Workers' local in New York City. It is refusing to install equipment produced by Reuther's union men. This is costing the firm, employing Reuther's followers, millions of dollars in orders.

THE CARPENTERS plan to refuse to work on new construction where Auto Union members inside the plant handle the maintenance. This will mean that Reuther's people may not be able to work in expanding plants.

Operating Engineers, who press buttons to start huge machinery and who handle huge cranes and other digging equipment, now are also discussing the strategy of boycotting the UAW.

With industry rapidly dispersing for military reasons, to create bright new automatic factories and to get into expanding southern and southwestern markets, this could cost Reuther's people tens of thousands of jobs and hundreds of millions of dollars in wages.

This war has little to do with Rutherford's politics or the fact that he once led the CIO. It's simply a matter of the swift disappearance of old skills and crafts as automation sets in.

So rapidly is the face of American industry changing that the AFL-CIO leaders, despite all their headachings, already are planning a special conference for Jan. 16 on the impact of these new changes.

Whoever wins this war on the modern industrial front survives as an influential union chief. Otherwise his union withers away in the next decade. And old chiefs never fade away without a fight.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Richard digs a hole to the underground wheelbarrow that Sampam the goblin runs from Fairy Land to Santa Land. He gets aboard and meets Miss Muffet and Simple Simon.

Chapter 11

PATRICK TWEEDLEKNEES

The wheelbarrow rolled to a stop. Sampam dropped the handles.

"Here we are. This is Santa Land."

Richard looked around. They were in a small lighted cave. "Where is Santa Claus?" he stammered.

"Up those steps, I expect," said Sampam. He pointed to a narrow winding staircase. "Now run along, son, and I hope Santa gives you what you want."

Richard climbed out of the wheelbarrow and waved to his new friends. "Goodbye," he said wistfully.

"Goodbye," shouted Mr. Simon. "Don't you worry about being dumb and scared. We like you the way you are."

RICHARD TURNED and started up the stairs. Round and round and round went the stairs. His head began to whirl as he climbed. Up, up, round, round. Presently he felt that he wasn't climbing but that he was walking on a cloud.

Suddenly the stairs ended and Richard found that he was standing in the middle of a great white cloud. He saw a little white house sitting on the cloud. As he walked towards the house the cloud felt cold to his feet. Suddenly some more cloud began dropping on his head and getting in his eyes.

He was terrified. He thought it was the end of the world. He began to run towards the white house. As he ran he cried, "The sky is falling! The sky is falling!"

"The sky is falling," shouted Richard

AN ELF dressed in red with crooked legs burst from the house. He stared at the sky and then at Richard. "Dunce!" he roared. "Have you never seen snow before?"

Richard stopped and looked around him. He turned red with shame. The cloud he thought he walked on was simply a land of snow stretching as far as the eye could see. And the bits of cloud falling on his head were flakes of never ending snow.

"What a stupid you are!" cried the elf.

Richard nodded dumbly. He did not tell the elf how dizzy he had become on the stairs so that he thought he had been walking on a cloud.

"You are a coward," grumbled the elf. Richard nodded. His eyes began to fill with tears. He had not expected Santa Claus to be like this. He turned away in despair.

SUDDENLY there was a shout from the house. Richard looked up and there was Santa Claus, the real, true, no mistake, Santa Claus coming down the steps.

He was round and red and beaming and Richard's heart filled with joy at the sight of him. Santa came down and put his arm around Richard's shoulder and then he turned to the elf.

"Patrick Tweedleknies I heard everything you said to this you. You ought to be ashamed of yourself for treating a visitor that way."

Richard hung his head. "It's true, I am dumb and I am a coward."

"Then this is no place for you," scoffed Patrick Tweedleknies. "Go back where you came from."

TWEEDLEKNEES, be quiet!" thundered Santa Claus. He turned to Richard. "You mustn't mind Tweedleknies. He makes a big noise but never means half he says."

He led Richard into his warm little house and sat down with him by the fire. Tweedleknies slumped glumly in a corner.

"Now tell me," said Santa. "Who are you and why are you here?"

"I am Richard, Prince of Mitzempoo. It is said that you give boys and girls whatever they most desire."

"That is true. So what can I give you?"

"C-courage and w-wisdom," faltered Richard.

For a long moment there was silence. Then Santa slowly shook his head.

"I am sorry but those things I cannot give."

Richard's heart sank and he thought, "Now, all is lost."

Questions and Answers

Unusual circumstances about human life are always interesting, and so is curiosity about them.

Q — Can you tell me the size of the largest infant ever born?—Mrs. S. R.

A — So far as I can determine, this was a male child born in Seville, Ohio, in 1879. The child weighed 23 3/4 pounds and was 30 inches long. The parents, Captain and Mrs. Bates, were themselves of considerable size: Captain Bates was seven feet seven inches tall and Mrs. Bates seven feet nine inches. A model of this child is in the Cleveland Health Museum.

Q — I have been diagnosed as having non-tropical sprue. Can you tell me something about this?—Mrs. M.

A — This probably results from deficiency of the diet or the inability to absorb certain substances in the food. The chief complaints are usually persistent diarrhea and general weakness. Of course, these symptoms have to be differentiated from other disorders which can produce similar signs. The best treatment is dietary. This includes foods rich in and low in fats, starches and roughage. Often liver extracts and a substance known as folic acid are also given. The outlook for cure is best in the young and those receiving early treatment.

Q — The flesh around my thumbnails becomes inflamed and sore. Is there something lacking in the diet or what else could I do?—Mrs. S.

A — It sounds as though this were an infection of the nailbed rather than a deficiency of the diet. This is called whitlow, felon or paronychia. It can sometimes be successfully treated by heat, by the local application of antiseptics or other means. Occasionally the nail may have to be removed.

Q — Would you please say something about Horner's syndrome?—Mrs. E. L.

A — This is a sinking in of the eyeball, a drooping of the upper eyelid, a slight elevation of the lower eyelid and contraction of the pupil of the eye caused by a paralysis of a certain area of the nervous system known as the cervical sympathetic. You will no doubt correctly conclude from this description that it is something which requires professional treatment.

The Whole World Goes to Paris

There will not be a single government spokesman in the NATO summit conference in Paris who will not bear a conscious burden of world responsibility.

This is the first international rally in the era of intercontinental missiles. For the first time, heads of government will be discussing the problems of rocket diplomacy.

The government which ushered in the glob girdling ocket era will not be represented. But although the Soviet Union will not be in the NATO conference, its reactions never will be any further away than the second thoughts of the delegates from the 15 NATO countries.

In every one of the countries there has been the same struggle to resolve doubts and differences that there has been and will continue to be in the United States.

For the first time since Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the United States cannot rely absolutely on its potential power of massive retaliation to hold together a strong alliance against the Kremlin.

That is why a NATO meeting is necessary. That is what NATO governments want to talk about. That is why President Eisenhower is literally taking his life in his hands to attend the meeting in person—to bolster confidence in the North Atlantic alliance.

IN THE ROCKET ERA, there will be stronger inducements for neutrality than ever existed before. The Soviet Union already is putting heavy stress on them.

It is pointing out the theoretical advantage of staying out of military contention in a kind of war that envisions attack and defense far above the earth's surface at extreme range.

Its primary purpose, obviously, is to deprive the United States of European bases for counterattack against Russian targets if nuclear war broke out.

The Kremlin does not accept—cannot accept—the assertion that the United States would not attack first; that its encircling bases are purely defensive.

It is pointing out to the countries containing the bases that the bases would be targets and that if no targets existed there would be no threat of destruction.

The United States is pointing out in rebuttal that there can be no such thing as neutrality in the face of the Communist conspiracy's fixed aim to dominate every country which is either unwilling or unable to defend itself.

This is the problem that will be aired in Paris.

MANY AMERICANS wish their spokesmen were prepared to offer something new in Paris. Many of them wish, specifically, that Secretary of State Dulles understood the limitations of a policy which clings so stubbornly to the one idea of massive military retaliation that it never leaves any room for propaganda retaliation.

The cold war that has been going on for the last 12 years has placed the United States in the same stuck-in-the-mud position that it accuses the Soviet Union of holding—unyielding determination to have its own way at any cost.

This position is proving to be almost as unattractive to U.S. allies as it presumably has proved to be to U.S.S.R. satellites by this time.

The tragedy of the position is that it does not represent the United States as a whole. Americans do not intend to have their own way at any cost. They do intend to demonstrate in every way they can that their way is superior to that of the authoritarians who come and go in the Kremlin.

But sometimes they wish a little more official imagination would be turned to the task, along with the standing threat of massive retaliation.

Aren't They Forgetting Something?

The U.S. Department of Health, Welfare and Education reports there are 893 bills for improving education on which Congress can go to work next month.

Most of them are characterized by dollar signs. They would appropriate another basketful of public money, in line with the great American credo that money can do anything.

It can erect buildings. It can pay room, board and tuition. It can pay per diem costs for commissions to study what could be done with even more money.

But it cannot educate anyone.

It can even raise teachers' salaries without educating anyone. The hardest thing to face up to about U.S. education and therefore the last thing that will be taken into account is the shortage of teaching. Not teachers but teaching.

It is a shortage of quality. Thousands of people who could have been good teachers because they had the attitudes good teachers must have were unwilling to tackle the job because it was less attractive and less rewarding than other jobs which paid better and required less training. Thousands of teachers were coaxed away from teaching and sometimes driven out of it by comparisons with other work that made teaching unattractive. And today thousands of potential teachers who will be needed in the next third of a century are not giving teaching the benefit of a doubt in planning their lives. This is where the emphasis should be kept in an effort to improve education. There should be a crash program to upgrade schoolteaching, not only financially but culturally and socially.

But do not count on it.

It will be easier to pass a passel of laws, appropriate basketfuls of money and try to buy our way out of the dilemma.

But it will not be that easy. Dollar signs are no substitute for the qualities that must be found in rare combinations to make outstanding teachers.

Until thousands more of the people who have the right qualities in the right combinations go into schoolteaching, U.S. education will continue to need improvement.

Keep the Pots Boiling

Local service club members are lending a hand to the Salvation Army in manning the Army's Christmas kettles on downtown street corners.

The service club representatives are ringing the bells not to attract attention to themselves but, rather, to the Salvation Army kettles which are so familiar at the holiday season. The dimes, quarters and dollars dropped in the kettles will be used to provide suitable gifts and food baskets for the less-fortunate on Christmas Day.

Are you helping to keep the kettles boiling? Your donation is needed.

Once Over

The subway strike was too tough even for Aristotle (Tex) Schultz, tall-in-the-saddle cowboy cabbie. In him is the spirit of the Old West, but it was bent and broken.

It was like the old frontier days," he said, fingering the 11 notches on his steering wheel. The soft cozy ways of the East took a beating. Nothing much worse was seen back on the Chisholm Trail. Eight million people, accustomed to getting to and from work by subway suddenly got told to make it the hard way.

It was like the pioneers' cry of 'It's an Indian raid! Our wagons are gone!' I seen plenty of rough stuff in my past, and in them TV westerns, but it was nuthin' like what I went through in the subway strike." IT SEEMS "TEX" found the life of a cabbie extra tough. "Them heroes in Maverick, Gun For Hire and Wyatt Earp suffered no more than me," he said. "Not only did people want to ride five and six to a cab, but they wanted to ride STANDING UP. Just through habit."

One old-time subway rider gave me an extra tip to slug him in the ribs, so he would get the pain to which he had got accustomed. Seven guys got into my cab once and wouldn't sit down until a lady barged in. Then they sat fast.

I HAD ONE TERRIBLE experience. A guy got in carrying home a Christmas tree. This is always rough, because a man with a Yuletide tree can be awful short-tempered. But two other guys crowded aboard who had dates to meet their wives and help do Christmas shopping. One of 'em said he was all in from helping the old lady address cards the night before.

"Well, things like that make tough hombres all ugly and looking for trouble. I was lucky to get out of it alive and it was only because I kept coughing like Dangerous Doc Holliday does in them western pictures."

"WHAT DO I THINK of the subway strike? I don't dig why them motormen did it. They should of been happy. They are the only people in all New York who can always ride sitting down!"

TRANSIT NOTE

Veep Nixon is wearing glasses. If he can remember where he left them it will make us feel more confident of his leadership.

This is the first time that Santa Claus got hurt in the subway. The strikers put him out of business and couldn't have done worse if they had shot his reindeer. Letters to Santa from the motormen saying, 'I've been a good boy,' will get them nowhere.

Carl Sandburg, one of our greatest poets, broke in at 6 while editing a BUSINESS MAGAZINE

Those New York motormen would have felt the punishment more if the judge had made them reach the jail by subway.

WE KNOW THE TV FAN who is so mixed up on the Sunday night programs that he thinks the three big 8 o'clock shows are Maverick Allen, the Steve Wichita program and the Wild Bill Sullivan hour.

There's a new and powerful cocktail out. You can orbit on the third drink. And F.F.B. says some places make their drinks so mild that he calls them Canaverals because they give no lift.

NATO's Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—NATO has been in a dilemma almost since it was born. It was created to meet one kind of war. But the nature of the war changed and kept changing.

President Eisenhower isn't expected to solve the dilemma when he goes into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's meeting next Monday in Paris.

NATO was created in April 1949 as a loose collection of Western nations, including this country, which promised to help each other if Russia attacked. At that time Russia had no atomic bomb or nuclear weapons.

The West had the advantage. The United States had the bomb. The Europeans could hold back a Russian attack until American bombers went to work. That was the original idea.

Within a few months, NATO faced a new problem: On Sept. 23, 1949, Russia had developed the atomic bomb. Within another four years it had the hydrogen bomb. The original conception of war in Europe—if it came—was gone.

Western Europe now faced possible annihilation from Russia if war started. It was frightening. But Russia drove the loose-knit NATO partners into a full military alliance by letting the Korean War start in 1950.

Blocked in Western Europe—at least temporarily—Russia began political and economic penetration of Asia and the Middle East while talking peace.

The NATO dilemma began in earnest: How could it counter Russian progress in other areas, particularly the Middle East which is Europe's oil source? NATO hasn't found an answer to that yet. It's still struggling to find one.

NATO is run by the foreign ministers of its 15 member nations. They meet once or twice a year. They've had 21 meetings so far. The day-by-day chores of NATO are handled by their representatives who have the title of ambassador.

The problems facing some of those meetings show some of the dilemma.

Until 1955 Secretary of State Dulles had been warning the main danger from Russia was military. In that year he began to shift his thinking. At the December 1955 meeting he said the main threat was political and economic.

But that meeting produced no solution. By the time of the next get-together in May 1956—there was a developing feeling in the West that NATO was outdated and should find a new role. There was even fear NATO might collapse.

Dulles at that meeting last year said it was time to "advance NATO" in the direction of planning and supporting "more economic development throughout the world."

He called for a new program to meet the Communist challenge on the political and economic planes, as well as the military.

That program hasn't emerged yet.

Next week at Paris Eisenhower and Dulles are expected to dwell more on the military problems than on the economic.

By the time of the NATO meeting in December 1956, more changes had occurred. Britain and France shocked their NATO partners by attacking Egypt without consulting them. It raised a ghost which bothered them and still bothers them.

Perhaps someday one of the NAT members would get into a shooting war which might be outside of Europe but nevertheless would quickly develop into war in Europe through Soviet retaliation.

And Russia shocked Western Europe too in 1956: by warning Britain it could be pulverized by Soviet missiles—clear warning to all Europe that Russia had or soon would have weapons that could span the Continent swiftly.

And the nature of the future war was changing: NATO began thinking less in terms of a lot of men in uniform and more in terms of nuclear weapons. Western Europe, by this very idea, had something else to think of.

With the exception of Britain, which had developed its own bomb Western Europe was lying between two nuclear giants: Russia and the United States. If war began, it might be goodbye Europe.

If the allies let America use their territory for missile bases, and war started, Russia would hit Western Europe fast. Russia left no doubt of it: it warned it would "liquidate" countries which became American missile platforms.

Now comes Monday's meeting. NATO hasn't worked out yet a program to meet the Russian political and economic challenge elsewhere. And some of the NATO partners are having military misgivings: they don't want American missile bases inside their borders.

This meeting may end like many before it: with big problems unanswered.

New Bomb Shelters

By PETER EDSON

CDA Offers Protection Against Bigger Weapons

Federal Civil Defense Administration has now come up with revised specifications for home shelter protection against atomic and hydrogen bomb blast and radioactive fallout.

All previous FCDA plans for shelter protection have of course been made obsolete by the new threat from Russian development of missiles with hydrogen warheads.

The newly designed blast shelter, to take care of five people for as long as two weeks, can be built for $3,300. For each additional person to be sheltered, add $500 to the cost. Protection against fallout can be provided for around $1,200.

Protection against blast is now recommended for all homes within 20-mile radius of a likely target for nuclear attack. Protection against fallout is recommended for all other areas, particularly those that are down wind from a likely target area.

The point now stressed by Benjamin C. Taylor, director of FCDA research and development, is that engineering formulas have now been worked out to cover every likely damage condition.

So any good contractor can now design adequate shelters to meet local conditions, using building materials readily available.

INITIAL RADIATION from the nuclear fireball in the first minute after explosion is expected to be fatal for 50 per cent of the people even if protected by two feet of concrete.

Since nothing much can protect these victims, attention is centered on protecting people in the residential areas farther out. They have a chance of safety and escape.

The basic engineering specification here is to provide protection from the fireball blast pressure of 30 pounds per square inch. This is the pressure exerted by a 20-megaton explosion three miles away.

This protection can be provided by six feet, eight inches of packed earth, or four feet, six inches of concrete.

Ten square feet of floor space and 65 cubic feet of volume are recommended for every person to be protected in a shelter. Sleeping accommodations should be provided for from a third to half of the occupants at any one time. Additional space must be provided for food and water storage.

under the banks and on high shelves.

FOOD SUPPLIES should be canned or dried so that they can be eaten without cooking. Water supply must be changed every three months to keep it fresh.

A mechanical ventilating system supplying three cubic feet of air per minute per person must be provided. If it is assumed that electric power will be out, an auxiliary gasoline engine or a hand-driven blower must be provided.

Failure to operate blowers for more than two hours at a time might be fatal. Assuming that sewage systems will be knocked out, septic tanks must be built in at additional cost. Or chemical toilets with disposable bags must be provided.

For both blast and fallout shelters, an air filter system is necessary. Dry-type cellulose-asbestos or fine glass fiber filters are recommended.

Design of entranceways is considered important, so as to provide traps for radiation waves and wind-blown dust particles. For safety, direction of entry should change three times.

A BATTERY OPERATED radio is considered essential for conelrad reception. One new suggestion being made by atomic energy advisers is to build Geiger counter attachments on these radios.

Household disinfectants, flashlight, toilet articles, tools and first aid kit are also considered necessary.

Most of this equipment must be provided in both blast and fallout shelters. But the latter structures themselves need not be as heavy. Three feet of earth or two feet of concrete are considered sufficient protection against fallout.

Extra strength basement shelters or shelters built under garages may provide sufficient protection against fallout. But they are no longer considered adequate against megaton bombs.

In areas where underground water level is high, above-ground shelters may be built of sandbags or earth mounds.

For heavier protection, FCDA's earlier designs tested at Nevada proving grounds are still considered adequate. They give protection against pressures up to 100 pounds per square inch. Cost of these heavier structures is put at $20,000 to $25,000 plus $750 for each additional person to be sheltered.

Offer New School Proposal

To The News: The school system of Knox Township has had considerable publicity and has made front and back page news for the past two years. The purpose of this letter is to present a point of view which has had little if any consideration.

The taxpayers and voters of Knox Township should give careful consideration to the possibility of building their own High School plant on the grounds they already own. There must be many voters who would support such a proposition, who have no interest in building a million and a half dollar showplace for Mahoning County.

The first task would be to separate from the Mahoning Local School District and return to the Columbiana County school system where we belong.

This can be accomplished in two steps:

First: A petition signed by 55 per cent or more of the qualified registered voters in the territory desiring to be transferred.

Second: A majority vote of the entire district, in favor of withdrawal, at the next regular general election.

The high school facilities suggested there could be provided at an estimated total cost of $200,000. The cost to the district would be approximately 2.3 mills additional tax.

This should be compared to the 2.9 mills required by the proposal submitted to and rejected by the voters last November. We should also be reminded that our tax rate increased 1.3 mills or approximately $9,500 per year, as soon as we became a part of the present consolidation.

It must be remembered also that as soon as we joined the consolidation we inherited a proportionate share of the maintenance and upkeep of seven buildings, all located in Mahoning County, as well as a share of the bonded indebtedness of Smith Township, Sebring, and Goschen.

We should also realize that we have the best school plant in the Mahoning Local School District, and we had it before the consolidation.

This suggested program would provide 12 regular classrooms including a music room, and one large assembly room, plus a farm shop. It would allow $30,000 for equipment, and allow $20,000 for addition to the heating and sewage facilities.

These figures are based on actual cost in a district in this section of the state, with a high school plant built within the last two years.

This program would make it necessary to use the present gymnasium and auditorium facilities until such time as the district could afford to construct better accommodations. This program would however:

1. Give us a High School of our own, under our own control, which we can afford.

2. Provide a sound curriculum which would fully meet the needs of our boys and girls.

3. Make a considerable saving in transportation cost.

4. Boost the value of property in Knox Township, rather than in another county.

We want to emphasize that the persons whose names are signed to this letter have no axes to grind. However, we feel very strongly that the people of Knox School District should give these suggestions some careful thought at once, before they permit themselves to be once again pressurized and propagandized into doing something they will wish later they had not done. The former issues were always presented with the statement, "There is no other course for us to follow." Here is suggested another course.

But to achieve their tasks here, he said, the NATO nations must rid themselves of certain false habits of thought of which we all have been more or less guilty.

He labeled as a misconception "a belief that 'our free system was inherently more productive in all fields than the totalitarian systems.'"

Another wrong belief, he said, has been that "time was always on our side, irrespective of what we do with that time."

He listed a third error as the idea that the Western nations, because of their independence, "can each lead a separate, selfish national life, without coordination of planning and of efforts."

"It is imperative," Eisenhower said, "that, while the margin of power is still ours, we should make sure of our policies and efforts that will keep it so."

"We are moving into an era in which vast physical forces cast a pall over our world."

"I believe our NATO governments stand ready to concert our efforts with each other—and with other nations including, of course, the Soviet Union if it were willing—to bring these forces under rational control in the common interest of all humanity."

School Head Says Journalism Needs More Top Students

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—George Kienzie, the new director of the Ohio State University School of Journalism, and William Oertel, executive director of the Ohio Newspaper Assn., say more top-grade students must be encouraged to take up careers in journalism.

The two were speakers at a meeting of the Associated Press Society of Ohio which concluded its two-day meeting here Sunday. Both men told the society, made up of editors of Associated Press member newspapers in Ohio, of the growing need for good students who want to enter the newspaper field. They called on the editors to support moves already under way to improve the situation.

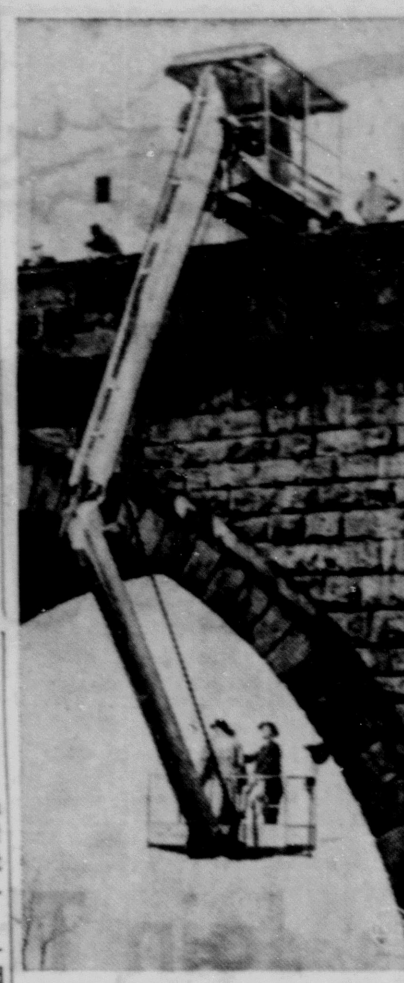

Kienzie said the OSU journalism school plans to do some field work in high schools aimed at recruiting top journalistic prospects.

Oertel reported that a committee of his association, composed of six newspaper men and six educators, also is working on recruitment projects, which include a booklet, "Your Career in Ohio Journalism," and a series of high school clinics.

Murray Powers, managing editor of the Akron Beacon Journal, presided at the meeting.

STORE EXECUTIVE DIES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Louis A. Madison, 62, president and founder of Madison's, a chain of women's stores in Ohio, died Sunday at Mount Carmel Hospital here after a three-week illness. He had stores in Columbus, Akron, Lima and Mansfield.

ON A BENDER—British Railways, faced with difficult problems in maintenance of their high-level bridges and viaducts, designed this "bender" to help their workmen. The device has two arms, one 21 feet and the other 17 feet, which unfold to reach down and under an arch like the one above at Knaresborough, Yorkshire, England. The "bridge bender" is mounted on a 52-foot truck that travels along the roadbed. The work "cage" has floodlights for night work, and electrical outlets for power tools.

Two Babies Victims of Youngstown Fire

10 Die in Ohio Road Mishaps

By The Associated Press
Traffic fatalities numbered 10 in Ohio this weekend, five less than the previous weekend. Thus the upward trend in highway deaths was reversed for the first time in three weekends.

In addition, there were three fire deaths, an apparent drowning and a woman who died when her coal stove exploded after she evidently put fuel oil into it.

Two of the three fire victims were babies, a brother and sister she went next door for a few minutes to get some diapers that were hung to dry in a neighbor's basement. When she returned her home was aflame and the children were trapped inside.

The drowning victim was an 8-year-old Morrow County girl whose father found her lying face down in a water-filled bathtub after she was left in their Youngstown home by their mother. She said er she had gone to take a bath.

The fatalities:

Friday night:

Guy L. Light, 23, Barborton, when his car struck a utility pole south of Barborton at the Wayne-Summit County line.

Saturday:

Kenneth Lawson, 19, Canton hit by a hit-skip driver on U. S. 62 west of Canton.

Mrs. Evelyn M. Welliver, 59, Hamilton, suffocated in a fire at her home.

Stanley R. Beierlein, 21, Cincinnati, when his car struck a tree in Mount Healthy, a Cincinnati suburb.

Charles Doughty, 27, East Liverpool, when his car collided with another auto on Ohio 7 near Columbiana.

Edwin D. Davis, 1 1/2, and his sister, Patricia Ann, 7 months, in a fire in their Youngstown home.

Judy Hildreth, 8, Edison, apparently drowned while taking a bath.

Fred W. Haeflerly, 68, Akron, and Forrest V. Whitney, 42, Tallmadge, when their car collided with a truck on Ohio 18 at Tallmadge, Summit County.

Sunday:

John Ralph Davis, 21, Worthington, pinned under his car after it struck a tree and dropped down a 15-foot embankment near Columbus.

Mrs. Cora Hedrick, 76, Parkersburg, W. Va., when the car in which she was riding collided with a freight train at a crossing in Rockland, Washington County.

Frank J. Schuman, 3, a Cuyahoga Falls fireman who was spreading salt on an icy patch of Ohio 8 there when a car skidded into the rear of the salt truck, pinning him between the vehicles.

Mrs. Wave E. Trautman, 83, Jefferson, when she apparently poured fuel oil into a coal stove, setting off an explosion in the kitchen of her home.

Ralph Kessler, 48, Sandusky, hit by a car in that city.

Parkersburg Thefts Involve 3 Firemen

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—An investigation into a fire department theft ring at a department store here has led to three arrests. Police Chief Bruce E. Parsons announced Sunday.

Arrested were Ronald Foster, 32, Paul Cochran, 34, and Lewis C. Wright, 32, all privates on the fire department who were charged with grand larceny.

Authorities said further arrests are expected to involve high ranking officers and perhaps as much as one-fourth of the 48-man personnel of the department.

Officials declined to estimate the amount of the stolen merchandise taken from the Sears Roebuck & Co. store, warehouses, service stations and garages where the firemen held part-time jobs during the Christmas rush.

The investigation began when City Councilman Gene Haynes and Fire Chief Hugh Neal said they became suspicious of bargain sales within the fire department. Police said first line tires were sold for as little as $10 apiece and a color television set was sold for only $35.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 10-15 degrees above normal. Normal high 36-41. Normal low 22-25. Mild and above normal except a little cooler Thursday or Friday. Precipitation will average four-tenths to seven-tenths of an inch in rain Wednesday or Thursday and again on Saturday.

Youngsters Get Longer Ride Than Expected

DEMING, N.M. (AP)—Two El Paso, Tex., youngsters decided they were tired of pedaling their bicycles.

Seeing a stopped freight train, they threw their bikes in the door, planning to get off when the train stopped, as usual, in downtown El Paso.

The train didn't stop.

It didn't even slow down until it reached Lordsburg, N. M., 106 miles away.

IS THERE A MASTERPIECE IN BILLY'S FUTURE?

Billy dreams of painting his own "Mona Lisa" some day—hailed as the artistic genius of his age! But only the right kind of schooling can make his dream come true.

Unhappily, Billy lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and good schoolbooks. That means less schooling for Billy than he needs.

Let's see that this doesn't happen in our schools. You can help by supporting our School Board, by attending PTA meetings and school conferences.

Quakers Face Undeclared East Palestine Tuesday Night

Bulldogs Victors Of 3 Straight

Visitors Possess Balanced Attack

By GORDON ARNDT

For the third time in as many games this season the Salem High cagers will face an undefeated quintet when they play host to the East Palestine Bulldogs Tuesday night.

The Quaker-Bulldog JV contest will begin at 7 p.m.

East Palestine, in its fourth year under Coach Don Hinton, has rolled over three opponents so far this campaign. The Bulldogs opened with a 49-44 overtime verdict against Wellsville then rattled Carrollton 71-51 before edging Boardman last Friday night 52-45.

THE VISITORS possess a balanced scoring attack led by their center, 6-3 Bob Gibson. He scored 21 points in their win over Boardman.

At the forward posts for the Brown and White will be 6-1 Larry Knight and 6-2 Sam Hirt. Starting at the guards for the Hinton-men will be 5-9 Rich Bolon and 5-8 Gary Griffith.

As front line subs, Hinton has 5-10 Bob Kirtly, 5-10 Jim Knight and 6-1 Tom Minamyer.

For Salem, Coach John Cabas will stay with the group of five players he started in wins over Struthers and Columbiana.

THAT INCLUDES Bill Pauline at center, John Sturgeon and Woody Deitch at forwards and Moe Meissner and Butch Platt at the guards.

This quintet will be backed up strongly by Lou Slaby, Darryl Adams, Dan Krichbaum and Clyde Marks.

Adams came off the bench last Friday against Columbiana and scored 16 points, while Slaby stood out on rebounding.

Cabas said he won't start Adams, despite his good showing last week, because he feels the 6-foot senior can't go the full distance because of a knee injury received in football. He added that by not starting Slaby, the 6-2 junior might have a better idea of what to do when he does enter the game.

LAST SEASON Salem defeated the Bulldogs at East Palestine in their third game of the season 72-64.

In the past 25-years, the teams have met 22 times, with the Quakers holding a big 18-4 margin in tilts won.

Tomorrow night's game will be Salem's last home game until Jan. 10 against Warren Harding.

Leafs Post Victories Over Hawks, Bruins

By The Associated Press
This was to be a season of rebuilding for the Toronto Maple Leafs — except no one bothered to inform the Leaf players of the team's blueprint plans.

The youth-studded Toronto club, replete with a rookie coach in Billy Reay, were rated to finish no better than fifth, in pre-season evaluations.

But the Leafs are tied with the Boston Bruins for third place, only four points behind the runner-up New York Rangers.

The Leafs had a productive weekend with victories over the Chicago Black Hawks, 1-1 Saturday and the Bruins, 2-1 Sunday. The Leafs have lost just one game in their last 10 starts.

In other games Sunday night the league-leading Montreal Canadiens blanked Chicago 2-0 and the Rangers downed the Detroit Red Wings 4-2.

Goalie Jacques Plante, posting his third shutout for Montreal, had only 13 saves.

Talbert Names Squad For Challenge Round

MELBOURNE, (AP) — Captain Bill Talbert today named his three veterans — Gardner Mulloy, Vic Seixas and Herbie Flam — plus 22-year-old Barry MacKay as the U. S. four-man Davis Cup squad for the Challenge Round, Dec. 26 and 28.

The inclusion of Flam indicates the Beverly Hills, Calif., player, a disappointment against the Belgians, may get a chance to redeem himself against the Australians. The Aussies named Mal Anderson, Ashley Cooper, Mervyn Rose and Neale Fraser.

Ted Williams, Sievers Win Batting Titles

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of American League old hands, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Roy Sievers of Washington, won major batting honors in the 1957 baseball campaign.

Williams, 39, became the oldest player in history to take the league batting championship. Official American League Sunday averages certified his mark of .388.

Sievers, 31, was tops in homers with 42 and in runs batted in with 114.

Only eight regulars batted .300 or better. Following Williams were Mickey Mantle, New York, with .363; Gene Woodling, Cleveland, .321; Bob Boyd, Baltimore, .318; Nelson Fox, Chicago, .317; Minnie Minoso, Chicago, .310; Bill Skowron, New York, .304, and Sievers, .301.

Mantle, voted the league's most valuable player for 1957, was third in home run production with 34—four fewer than Williams—in addition to being second to Williams in batting.

Lions Batter Bear Defenses For Chips-Down 21-13 Win

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Lions broke a four-year Chicago jinx Sunday. They whipped the Chicago Bears and earned a tie for the Western Conference championship of the National Football League.

Crippled, scoreless and trailing by 10 points at the half, the determined Lions suddenly took command and battered through the 21-13 victory.

It was the first time Detroit had defeated the Bears in Wrigley Field since 1953.

The Lions will meet the San Francisco 49ers in a playoff game at San Francisco Sunday. The 49ers remained in the running with a 27-20 home victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The Bears toyed with the visitors in the first half to the cheers of 41,083 fans. While the Chicago defense held Detroit's rushing to 13 yards, George Blanda kicked a first-quarter, 2-yard field goal and Ed Brown rocketed a 44-yard pass to Bobby Watkins for a spread formation in the second. Watkins bounded across the goal from the 30-yard line.

Detroit loosed a determined assault in the third quarter, scoring adroitly the first two times it took possession. Then with the game already on ice, the Detroiters added an insurance touchdown in the final 30 seconds.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions credited his team's comeback to a sudden recovery from a case of jitters.

"The team was tight when the game started and they didn't come out of it until the half was over," he said. "It was a big one for us and we knew we had to win it."

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy sparked Detroit's third-quarter surge. He made a three-yard touchdown sweep around end to cap an 80-yard drive in nine plays. Later in the period he added vital yardage in a 53-yard surge which ended with Tobin Rote's nine-yard touchdown pass to Dave Middleton.

Cleveland Scores 34-28 Win Over New York

Quarterback Milt Plum Connects on Eleven of 16 Passes

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Boys, he's going to be a good one." That was Coach Paul Brown's opinion of quarterback Milt Plum who led the Cleveland Browns to a 34-28 come-from-behind victory over the rugged New York Giants Sunday. Plum was subbing for the injured Tommy O'Connell.

"Plum did a great job for a 21-year-old youngster," Brown added. Connecting on 11 of 16 passes good for 229 yards and a touchdown, the former Penn State star also turned in some spectacular running.

A first year man, Plum teamed up with another rookie, fullback Jim Brown, to keep the Browns' offense rolling. Brown, the league's leading ground gainer, ran for 78 yards including a 20-yard touchdown gallop. Commented Giants' Coach Jim Lee Howell following the game:

"You just don't figure any team is going to have so many rookies come through. They (the Browns) should be well set for some time to come."

But it wasn't only the rookies who starred in the see-saw battle before 54,294 fans packed into Yankee Stadium. Ageless Lou (The Toe) Groza boomed two 15-yard field goals through the uprights and kicked four extra points. Veterans and brothers, Preston and Lew Carpenter each accounted for a tally, with Preston's coming on a 35-yard run. Ray Renfro scored the other touchdown after catching one of Plum's aerials.

Groza's performance gave him a total of 77 points for the season and left him tied with Sam Baker of the Washington Redskins for the National Football League's scoring championship.

The Giants played with a vengeance although the game had little significance. Cleveland already had won the Eastern Division championship and a chance at the league title. The Browns will meet the winner of next Sunday's playoff game between San Francisco and Detroit on Dec. 29 for the world's professional football title.

Behind the passing of quarterbacks Don Heinrich, who figured in three touchdowns plays, and Chuck Conerly, the New Yorkers held the lead four times. Each time the Browns came from behind to tie or go ahead. The Giants muffed a golden opportunity to pull the game out of the fire in the final two minutes.

Behind by six points and on the Browns' 15 - yard line, Conerly fired to Ken McAfee in the end zone. Cleveland's Ken Konz picked off the pass on the goal line, ending New York's hopes for a victory.

Frank Gifford scored two Giants' touchdowns on passes from Heinrich, who ran over from seven yards out for a third touchdown. Mel Triplett boomed in for another New York tally and Ben Agajanian kicked four extra points.

Probably the most spectacular play of the game was turned in by Plum in the final quarter. Almost swarmed under by the blitzing Giants' line, Plum broke away on the New York 30-yard line and, finding his receivers covered, scooted to the two. On the next play, Lew Carpenter rammed over the winning score.

Cleveland, with its 11th division championship in 12 seasons, wound up with a 9-2-1 record for the year. The Giants, who earned second place in the Eastern Division standings, ended the season with seven wins and five defeats, two at the hands of the Browns.

The Salem Junior Saxons defeated the Youngstown Junior Saxons 64-56 in a cage tilt played here Saturday.

The locals had to fight for their victory. Salem took a 17-13 first period lead and maintained its four-point edge 35-31 at intermission. However, the invaders tallied 17 markers to 12 for Salem in the third period to take the lead 48-47. Bill Schuster was high scorer for the locals with 27 points. W. Harris followed with 24 markers.

D. Hoffman paced the Youngstown squad with 18 points. K. Hoffman tallied 15 markers for the losers.

Behind by six points and on the Browns' 15 - yard line, Conerly fired to Ken McAfee in the end zone. Cleveland's Ken Konz picked off the pass on the goal line, ending New York's hopes for a victory.

49ers, Lions to Meet Sunday For Western Title Play-Off

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Lions and the San Francisco 49ers, each with quarter-back troubles and a surplus of second-half bounce, will collide Sunday in San Francisco to determine the champion of the National Football League's Western Division.

The teams ended their regular schedules Sunday on three-game winning streaks, tied for the lead with 8-4 records.

The Lions beat the Chicago Bears 21-13. Y. A. Tittle directed a 17-point second half for the 49ers to smother the last-place Green Bay Packers 27-20.

In the meantime, the upstart Colts ran into a red-hot Norm Van Brocklin. The Dutchman threw four touchdowns passes and the Los Angeles Rams scored 17 points in the final period to whip Baltimore 37-21. The loss left the Colts with a 7-5 record and its best NFL finish in history. But it was hardly consolation after hopes had been raised for the title.

The Cleveland Browns, Eastern champions, warmed up for their championship match, rallying to whip the New York Giants 34-28. Washington outkicked Pittsburgh 10-3.

The Lions-49ers winner plays Cleveland Dec. 29 for the NFL title.

When Van Brocklin, a 10-year man like Tittle, wasn't throwing TDs, Paige Crotchen was kicking three field goals for the Rams. The Colts were down 20-7 at the half.

In Saturday's nationally televised game, the Chicago Cardinals edged the Philadelphia Eagles 31-27. Quarterback Lamar McHan tossed three touchdown passes of 42, 53 and 34 yards to lead the Cards' offense. If the Cards topple Pittsburgh next Sunday at Comiskey Park, the Chicagoans can tie the Eagles for fifth place in the Eastern Division.

Hawks Score 138-118 Win Over Lakers

By The Associated Press
Don't look now but there's also a runaway race developing in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

The St. Louis Hawks are starting to pull away from the pack just as the Boston Celtics have done in the Eastern Division. The Hawks now are 5 games ahead of the Cincinnati Royals while Boston's lead over the Syracuse Nats has been reduced to 7 games.

The Hawks completed a successful weekend with a 138-118 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers Sunday night to extend their winning streak to five. St. Louis, which has won 13 of its last 17, whipped the New York Knicks 136-124 in a nationally televised game Saturday.

In other games Sunday night, Syracuse routed Cincinnati 109-83 with a third-period scoring spurt and New York rallied in the final minutes to overhaul the Detroit Pistons 116-109.

Cliff Hagan triggered St. Louis to within four points of the league record for most points scored by one team. Hagan collected 40 of the Hawks' 138. Philadelphia holds the mark of 142 set against Boston in 1956.

Syracuse continued to chop away at Boston's lead in the Eastern Division as the Nats handed Cincinnati its second defeat in as many nights. Larry Costello topped Syracuse with 24 points. Clyde Lovellette led Cincinnati with 23.

The Knicks overcame a 14-point deficit to defeat Detroit. The Pistons' George Yardley took scoring laurels with 27 points and Carl Braun led New York with 24.

Auburn Posts Top Record In Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—Auburn, the national collegiate football champion, swept to its lofty position on the strength of a rock-like defense mark in 10 seasons.

This was disclosed today with the release by the NCAA Service Bureau of its final major college statistics. Unbeaten, Auburn permitted its 10 opponents an average of only 2.8 points a game, the lowest mark since 1947. The Plainsmen also led in total defense with a yield of only 133 yards a game and in rushing defense with 67.4 yards a game.

Arizona State grabbed titles in total offense with an average of 444.9 yards and in scoring with 39.7 points a game. Utah captured the passing crown with 196.2 yards a game and Colorado was the No. 1 club in rushing with a 322.4 yards average. Colorado was runner-up to Arizona State in total offense.

Family's Moving Poses Many Problems For Young Folk

Children, more than the parents, are likely to suffer when the family moves.

Young adults, particularly, are likely to feel at loose ends without their friends and acquaintances, the security involved in all those local organizational enterprises — church, community clubs, athletic teams, school functions.

There is little that some parents can do about a move — Dad may be transferred to a new job or perhaps ill health necessitates a change of climate for some member of the family. Perhaps the reasons are less important.

Parents should be prepared to cope with the adjustments that may be forced on their children as the result of being in a new environment, says the Child Study Association. The group is trying to further the idea of easing the burden of moving day for the family with some sound tips.

Let the youngsters participate in house-hunting and plans for removal and selection of the new home, they suggest. Interest them in the new environment, perhaps in opportunities available for new companions or new activities in that area.

It's a good idea, too, to let them go over the house in advance, and for the entire family to be in on room selections. Maybe Dick who enjoys painting would prefer a north window while Kathy who loves sunshine and plants might prefer the southwest exposure. Let them talk it out.

Parents should suggest, even before the move takes place, that each youngster invite his closest friend for a weekend just as soon as they are settled, and perhaps a date may be made even before the move is made.

As soon as the youngsters are settled in a new school, encourage them to invite some of their new classmates to your home, and have a housewarming party for new acquaintances. It's a good idea to include the new teachers in a dinner party when possible, particularly if they have not met you when the children were entered in school.

Keep the young people as busy as possible when you move into that new neighborhood. Whenever it seems that they have time on their hands, dream up something that will interest them.

To explore the neighborhood, movies shopping and nearby points of interest may take their minds off their problems, and keep them from brooding, until they make new friends.

They may get into the swing of things quicker by joining the Girl Scouts or Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, 4-H Clubs, dramatics clubs and other local enterprises.

Another enterprise that might keep them busy is making up a map of their new home area, perhaps showing the route from the old house to the new, and these would be fun sent along with the Christmas card or incorporated into one.

'Growth' Homes Help Meet Families' Needs

If the idea of trying to raise a family in a makeshift home scares you, why not build a growing home to suit your growing needs?

Take your problems to an architect, says the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. He'll be able to design a functional and beautiful home for you of wood, a flexible material which makes additions and partitioning an easy matter. And even the finest graining lumber, Douglas fir, is relatively inexpensive.

The permanent nucleus of the house, including living room, dining room, kitchen, master bedroom, bath, and a large room to serve as a sort of dormitory for tiny tots can be built for a surprisingly low amount.

Then, as the children grown and you are ready to take on further cost, additional bedrooms and baths, and perhaps a family room can be added.

A VALUE-PACKED SPLIT LEVEL, this seven-room house has 300 square feet on the first floor plan. It has three bedrooms, one and a half baths and a den or a family room. A large outdoor living terrace is in the rear. The design, HA-8-P, is by Architect Samuel Paul, 89-51 164th St., Jamaica 32, N.Y.

Sympathetic Use of Natural Materials Urged by Architect

It is well that there is a resurgence in intelligent use of wood in American residential design, a leading western architect observes, and most of a sympathetic use of this great natural material.

There is need for a counterbalance, reports John S. Detlie, member American Institute of Architects and chairman of Seattle civic arts commission, who points out the increasing hardness and rigidity of commercial architecture.

"While the 'international school' of architects were over-stressing metals, glass and plastics," Detlie said, "some of us knew all along that there would be a resurgence in the intelligent and sympathetic use of wood. That time is here now."

Detlie said architects along the west coast particularly have been observing the respect that oriental craftsmen gave toward western red cedar and related woods. The more natural the finish — the better. Heavily varnished surfaces are avoided and the contemporary interior has either satin, matt or oil rubbed finish.

The oriental tradition of sharply contrasting "natural" wood with highly lacquered colorful polished architectural wood members has not yet become an acceptable expression in the United States, but is coming, he said.

The trend is toward exploiting the beautiful natural characteristics of wood in home design, Detlie suggested. The soft warm quality of wood can be richly revealed in modern architecture where so much exposed wood is used in home design. Clear lacquers, varnishes, even light stains and oils put accent on texture and tone of lovely grained west coast hemlock, Douglas fir or cedar.

Wood Paneling Used To Beautify Homes

Wall decoration is no longer an intricate matter, according to leading home decorators.

Superficial ornamentation on walls is being discarded and handsome woods in different grains and paneling patterns now form the primary decorative element of a home.

Wood paneling has long been used in the great ancestral homes of America and Europe, but in this day and age you needn't be the owner of a manor house to have such distinctive woods as west coast hemlock grace your walls.

Hemlock, long prized for its rich graining and lovely, champagne coloring, is within the price range of most young homemakers, as are western red cedar and Douglas fir, two other fine woods.

Home Repair Dos And Don'ts

DO . . . know that many home repairs around the house can be made easier with the use of a portable jigsaw, since it can make cuts in wood or other materials which are anchored to something else unlike the otherwise valuable stationary power tools.

DO . . . start a cut with the portable jigsaw by placing the forward edge of the blade on the stock, starting the motor and then moving the blade forward with a firm but not excessive pressure.

DO . . . cut freehand to a scribed line or use a straightedge, depending on how important it is to cut a perfect cut . . . but be sure the straightedge is thick enough so the base of the saw does not ride over it.

DO . . . when cutting outside curves, saw along the outside edge of the design, thus allowing a little leeway to fix any slight mistake you might have made.

DON'T . . . forget that there are many kinds of blades available to enable the portable jigsaw to be used for cutting both ferrous and non-ferrous metals, as well as wood, felt, leather, rubber, plastics, insulating materials, composition boards, linoleum and resilient floor tiles.

DON'T . . . overtighten the blade in the chuck unless you want it to break off the first time here is any extra strain on it.

DON'T . . . try to cut hardwood over one inch thick unless you have one of the special heavy-duty model jigsaws.

Zoologists now use a water pistol loaded with a narcotic to put a shark to sleep while they study its reproductive processes.

Built-Ins Solve Almost Any Storage Problem

Built-ins can solve almost any storage problem in the home.

One closet houses linens and the other can be used as a wardrobe, or for storing sundry needs such as extra blankets, bathroom supplies and small appliances, or perhaps to hide a clothes hamper.

The louver doors of ponderosa pine serve two special purposes. They give a modern, textured appearance to the room, and permit circulation of air in the closets, important to prevent mustiness and discourage moths.

Wardrobe closets of ponderosa pine with hinged louver doors can be obtained in "knocked down" form. They are easily assembled at home.

Four stock louver shutters of ponderosa pine can be hinged at one side and in the middle, permitting them to fold compactly when opened.

DECORATING HINT

Soffits — those built-in areas above kitchen wall cabinets — are excellent places to use wallpaper suggests Diana Young, Youngstown Dickens color stylist. Simple, repetitive wallpaper patterns in colors contrasting with wall color or make the kitchen more interesting.

COLUMBIANA

Firestone Park Floodlight Debt Is Reduced to $1,732 by Drive

COLUMBIANA — The debt on the floodlights at Firestone Park football stadium has been reduced to $1,732 by Firestone Park Lights Committee, which started a fund campaign a year ago to wipe out a debt of $4,532.

The lights were installed by the village in 1946 at a cost of $10,000, under an agreement for repayment by the High School Athletic Association at a minimum rate of $1,000 a year. Diminishing gate receipts since 1950 reduced payments by the association, which had paid only a little over half the debt a year ago.

Superintendent D. W. Bailey, the chairman of the fund committee, says it is the hope of the committee that the debt may be erased within the next three years. Business, professional and industrial leaders and civic groups have been cooperating. The light committee paid the village $2,800 the other day.

EAST FAIRFIELD Methodist Church has received from the state a non-profit corporation charter. Trustees are Lawrence Bable, Alfred Creasno, Ralph Elliott, Robert Crook, Chalmers Webber, Paul Cope, Donald Adams, Merle DeRhodes and Clark Baker. Mark George is the pastor.

Columbiana County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet in East Liverpool Tuesday evening. Firestone Post Auxiliary will meet Wednesday evening at home when members are to take food or canned goods for Christmas baskets for the needy.

The Christmas party of the auxiliary will include a smorgasbord lunch, with a party for juniors at 7. There will be a 50-cent gift exchange for the children and a $1 gift exchange for adults.

Firestone American Legion Post was represented at the meeting of Columbiana County Council of the Legion in East Palestine, Friday evening, by Tenth District Commander Robert Patchen, Adjutant Thomas Crawford, Commander Richard Wenderoth, Vice Commander Richard Winegard and A. M. McLaughlin.

Christmas parties scheduled by local posts and their aid for needy veterans were discussed. The "Back to God" movement will be observed by local posts some time in February. Memberships for 1958 are lagging all over the state.

Firestone Post will have its Christmas party for the children Friday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. when Santa Claus will distribute gifts and candy.

Columbiana Women's Democratic Club will meet at Young's Restaurant at 8 p.m. Tuesday. The club is giving $25 toward local Christmas projects.

RICHARD BERRYMAN, Columbiana High School basketball coach will be the speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Heck's at 6:30 p.m. today. After the club meeting, President-elect K. T. Gormley will conduct a school of instruction in the office of Dr. C. W. Dewalt for new officers and committee chairmen.

Fairfield Community Mothers Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes, 96 Albright Ave., Columbiana at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Instead of a gift exchange, each member is to take a gaily-colored envelope to be sent to the UNESCO. Mrs. Beulah Converse will be co-hostess.

Harry Eberhardt, chairman, will present three high school students in a traffic safety program at the meeting of the Rotary Club at Valley Golf at 6:30 p.m. today.

Miss Lynn Brittain of East Palestine High, who attended the state traffic safety conference in Columbus a year ago, and Miss Glenda Shasteen and Allen Hoffman, of Columbiana High, who attended the conference this year, will be the speakers. Rotary and Kiwanis each paid $12 toward

3 Fire Departments Fight Dayton Blaze

DAYTON, Ohio (P) — Fire raged out of control for about an hour early today at a huge wholesale and retail beer and wine parlor at nearby West Carrollton.

Three fire departments fought the blaze which destroyed the block-long, concrete building known as Woody's Little Farm. No one was hurt.

The fire was fed by large stocks of charcoal which the owner, Woody Bowman, had for sale. Heat was so intense, firemen reported, that windows were melted in a hardware store more than 10 feet away across U.S. 25.

The heat kept firemen away from the building for a half hour. Most of the firemen's efforts were directed at saving nearby structures.

No damage estimate was made immediately. Cause of the fire also was unknown.

This Request Will Be Hard For Santa to Fill

ALBUQUERQUE (P) — Santa says the Albuquerque post office is going to have a tough time with this little girl's Christmas request:

"I want a dolly that can walk all by itself and can talk all by itself and can eat all by itself and take a bath all by itself and get dressed when I tell her what to wear. And a dolly that will help mommy and sister with the dishes so I will not have to wash them myself. And she should be able to jump rope all by herself. "And the dolly can play with me."
